AN INTERESTING TABLE.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Bulletin sends to that paper an interesting table in regard to the labor market in the various States of the Union for certain kinds of smployment. He prefaces the table with the following remarks:

Late last spring, the Secretary of State transmitted to the House of Representatives in pamphlet form an exceedingly valuable report compiled by our, consult to the attention of the United States, the statistician of the Department of Agriculture was quietly at work collecting materials for a table to show the condition of labor in this country. With an eye to condensing the matter as much as possible for American readers, familiar enough with the general and local laws affecting the labor market, he has carefully, silted the subject until he is now ready to present it in his forthcoming report in a compact, handy volume sort of shape These are his figures for the present year, 1880:

In the State of the Carlow States of the American readers, familiar to the attention of the United States, the statistician of the Department of Agriculture was quietly at work collecting materials for a table to show the condition of labor in this country. With an eye to condensing the matter as much as possible for American readers, familiar to the attention of the United States, the statistician of the Department of Agriculture was quietly at work collecting materials for a table to show the condition of labor in this country. of labor since 1879 can be gathered by imparing the first two columns of the above table with the returns made last year. The decline, which had been steadily going on since 1873, appears to have arrested, and a decided advance is to be noted in almost every section. The average wages of labor, engaged by the year, or season, and which represents the steady d reliable force on the farm was for the whole country last year $20 26 a month without board. This year it is $21 75, being an increase of 7 25 per cent.

Taking into consideration the figures of the second column, being the rates paid with board, to the same class of labor, we rain a view of the cost of subalating the laborer, which for the whole country is an average of $7.17 in 1880, as against $7 14 in 1879. These figures are in violation of the general rule that a decline in the cost of subsistence keeps pace with a decline in wages, as this year the proportion is largely in favor of the laborer cost of subsistence remains nearly at the lowest rate, while the wage has materially advanced. The average price of labor with board is $1456 per month. In the only three States-Texas, Minnesota and California-which show decline in wages without board over last year, the res also show an increase in wages with board. And it will of course, be seen that the price of labor with board is the only safe criterion in those States, as the sparse population and general lack of facilities make it almost necessary to feed and lodge the hired help.

The greatest increase shows itself in the West and the States along the Ohio river, which have been uncommonly favored this year. And the same, from the same causes, applies to the cotton States. With causes, applies to the cotton States. With the highest price paid for cotton, the advance has been universal, sometimes going as high as 8 or 10 per cent. The demand for labor is good in all sections of with questions:

"You have given up the Creeds. You will no longer commit yourself to the assertions that you believe in God. You consider the resurrection of Christ incredible, and therefore you will not affirm it. Many other people are of the same mind; but they for the most-part do not set up as teachers and spiritual guides. Why do they do so? It is because for twenty years or more you have been preaching as the very most ascred of all conceivable trains that which you now affirm to be incredible! Or, is it only because you have got a lease of the Duke of Bedford's chapel, and have got together a congregation for it, and because being used to preaching and reading prayers, you do not like to give it up? The dirst is an absurd reason for your conduct, the second is worse. What other can be suggested? At all events, if you must be a presicher and a teacher, would it not be in good taste, to say the least, not to attack so estentationally the b. dy of which you were so long a member? It is impossible to believe that it took twenty years for you to discours its connection with 'the were so long a member? It is impossible to believe that it took twenty years for you to discover its connection with 'the old aristocratic system which is perishing so rapidly,' or to learn that it 'ministered to that imperialistic conception of God' of which you disapprove."

The above is an exact copy of the ticket that was received by the sworm judges, but thrown out by the Commissioners.

Two thousand and filty-five of these tickets were thrown out by the Election Commissioners on the ground that they bore "a distinguishing mark or device" within the meaning of the State law. The dashes reproduced in the copy are the "marks" or "devices" referred to. As the Ferald well remarks, the names on the Republican ticket might as well be construed to be "distinguishing marks" as the punctuating dashes under them. The Hera'd says in an editorial paragraph:

After writing our editorial paragraph:
After writing our editorial on the ticket outrage proposed in this county, we learned that the Election Commissioners actually threw out over 2,000 tickets voted by the Republicans. In our opinion this equals the Returning Bsard business of Louisians in its darkest days. In the name of wonder, to what lengths will these people go! And to thick our State will have to stand the hame for this, when it will do Gen. Chalmers no good whatever. The above is an exact copy of the ticker at was received by the sworn judges, but ome or two broads of chicks, will lay about 9 16 ergs, which at an average of twenty-five per dozen, will amount to about $230. The average amount of manure derived from each ben, when allowed to run at large, I find to be about one bushel per year; this is readily sold at the door, in this vicinity, at forty-five cents per bushel, making the return from each ben to be about $275 per year. Deduct from this the keening, which I find to average about $1 40 per year, and you have a neat little income of $1 35 per year from each hen.

I can readily dispose of all the eggs I can raise at from five to ten cents per dezen advance on the regular price, thus making my profits average about $2 per year from each hen, and this could be affil farther raised by saving the eggs rissed in April, May and June until about Thanksgiving time, and then putting them on the market. e or two broods of chicks, will lay sho
